

Bay zoning amendment under Council scrutiny

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis City Council may amend a proposed ordinance to the City's zoning ordinance.

After more than an hour of discussion at a workshop Wednesday, the Council agreed to consider deleting several provisions from a resolution that would amend Zoning Ordinance 220 to allow dockside gambling in the city limits only in a heavy commercial zone adjacent to a highway district — effectively limiting the location of an operation to the site where Mardi Gras Casino is planning a development.

The provisions the Council members discussed deleting deal with the development's impact on the district and adjacent properties; nuisance factors; impact on property values; traffic, parking and services. The councilmen agreed that these matters could be handled separately.

Other matters not addressed in the resolution but discussed by the councilmen included provisions for evacuation, payment of damages if a gaming vessel should strike the car bridge that spans the bay, and the developer's responsibilities for restitution should the property ever be abandoned.

Prior to the Council's agreement to consider condensing the resolution, Councilmen Jim Thriffley and Charles Scianna

Signs of conflict

BY TRACI BONNEY

Around 5 p.m. Thursday, a new battle in the dockside gambling war was started.

Members of Friends of Bay St. Louis, a group that opposes downtown beachfront gaming operations, posted "Endangered View" signs on the property adjacent to the site of a proposed Mardi Gras Casino development.

About two hours later, Mardi Gras Casino representative Don Tyner retaliated, placing "Endangered 700 Jobs" signs on the development site's Beach Blvd. perimeter.

Friends of Bay St. Louis spokesman Fred Wagner explained the group's actions by saying, "I think people on the beach front feel very strongly that the view is being endangered."

"The view is real; it's there and it is endangered. The jobs are only speculation at this point."

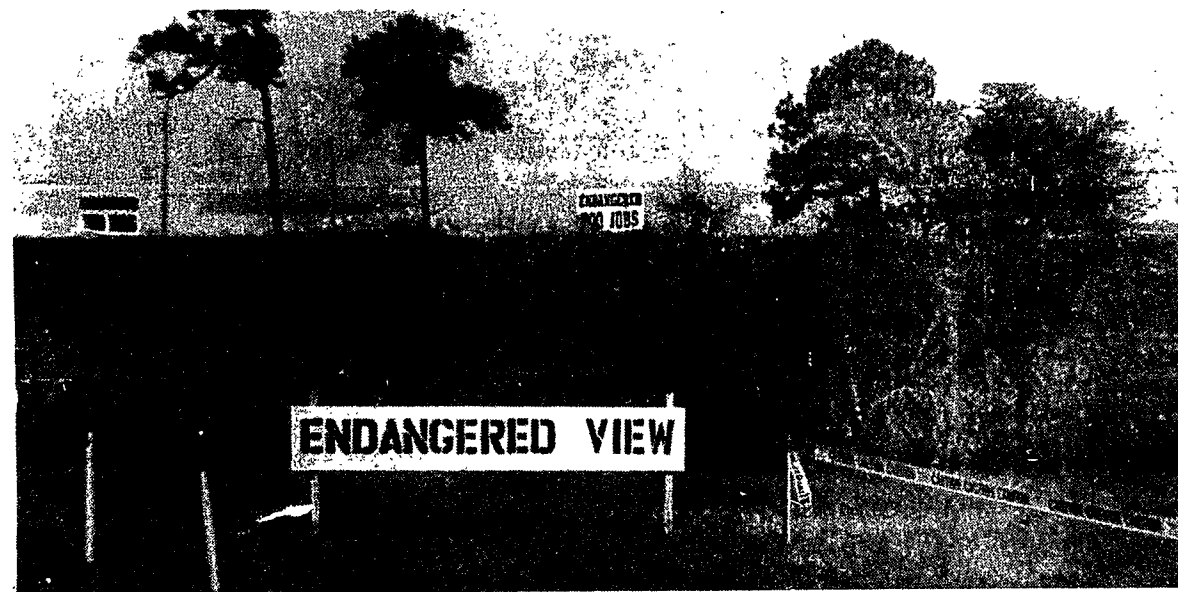

Tyner stated, "We had the signs printed and we put them up so that the public could see both sides."

"We don't think the public should be punished and 700 jobs should be sacrificed because four houses along the beach think their view is being endangered. The view won't be endangered."

"What they'll be seeing several hundred feet out in the water is a little dot, and that dot will block a dot on the bridge."

Tyner said the distance from the shore to the front of the casino structure will be 830 feet, and the structure itself will be about 500 feet long.

As to comments about the jobs being endangered, he added, "Something doesn't have to be in existence to be endangered. I think it's naive of them to say that when the anti-gaming elitists are threatening to file a lawsuit and are fighting at every level."

A distinct talent

Special education director Sherry Ponder makes a difference, one child at a time

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

For special education director Sherry Ponder, her work is more than a job; it's an avocation.

"I always knew I wanted to work with the distinctive children," she stated.

"Most people who come to me for a job have a calling for the work. For a special ed child, the smallest of actions can be the greatest of accomplishments. Progress is made very slowly."

Ponder, a Bay St. Louis native and former McGinity, is director for both the county and Bay-Waveland school districts. She coordinates the two district departments under a consortium agreement, combining resources for the benefit of the children.

Special education today is involved with more than just those children deemed handicapped or mentally deficient. It reaches out, into practically all areas of differences.

Children are determined to be in need of special education only after careful evaluation by the bi-district department.

Ponder explained, "A student is given an IQ test to discover potential, and an achievement test to discover at what level the child is actually functioning. If there is a 15-point discrepancy, there is possibly a learning disability."

"The most important questions we must ask ourselves are, 'How will special education benefit this child?' and, 'Can this child's needs be equally satisfied through regular education intervention?'"

"The last thing we want to do is place a child into special education when that child can receive adequate help through regular education."

"It stigmatizes the child and the parents. It destroys that child's self-esteem, for special education is still thought of as for the not normal."

NINE PROGRAMS

Under one huge umbrella, there are nine areas special education serves today, along with the one separate area for gifted classes.

Speech/language — articulation, such as substitution of letters; fluency, such as stuttering; voice control, such as screaming or yelling problems; language impairments, such as late development.

This area serves up to 60 percent of all special education students. Speech/language problems are usually correctable through work with a speech therapist, Ponder said.

SLDs (specific learning disabilities) — areas where students have particular problems such as in mathematics, reading or writing skills. The County to close down three convenience sites

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock County will close garbage and trash three collection sites by February 15 in an effort to save money.

Board of supervisor members decided Thursday to take the action following review of the $39,000 monthly cost the county pays for tonnage and load.

"The pull charge for each load is killing us," District 1 Supervisor Robert Peterson exclaimed. The county pays $206 per ton and charges varying by millage between $130 and $200 per pull.

The order was given for all open top containers to be removed by the middle of February.

All county trash will have to be brought directly to the Pearlinton or Standard dumps.

Household garbage may be brought only to those sites where compactors are in operation: the Pearlinton dump, Washington and Chapman Streets, and the North Maintenance Barn on Hwy. 43.

The supervisors ordered compactors placed at the Standard dump, the South Barn, and the North county site.

The three new compactors will be in place as soon as possible after February 15, according to road superintendent Sam Cuevas. He said as sites and services are closed or changed, signs will be posted at existing facilities.

Sheriff's Dept. investigates horses' deaths

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The death of two horses being kept by Eugene Ladner, Hwy. 53 in Crane Creek, is under investigation by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and the Hancock County Humane Society, Investigator Matt Karl reported Friday.

Accusations of inhumane treatment of the animals were brought Thursday to the sheriff's department by Danny Farrell, the owner of the animals.

Farrell had brought the carcass of one of the animals to the sheriff's department.

Sheriff's deputies removed all five remaining animals from the Ladner property, Karl stated.

"At this time, no charges have been made," he said. "We are waiting on the autopsy report and taking statements from witnesses."

It has been two years since you left us to journey to your heavenly home.

God wanted you near
You left before we could hug you and tell you good-bye.

A million times we needed you,

A million times we've cried.
A heart of gold stopped beating,

Smiling eyes closed to rest.
God breaks our heart
To prove to us

He only takes the best.
A place is vacant in our home,
Which no one can fill.

Our tears come from missing you, and sorrow.

You were not ours to keep,
Just for a short time to borrow.

And now we know, this is God's will.

Ponder

problems must have a significant impact on the student's work.

SLDs must be evaluated as more than just a slow learning problem. Slow learners receive help through the regular education program or through the Chapter 1 program.

Mentally retarded — determinations are made by IQ test results. There are three degrees of mental retardation: Educable (IQs of 50-70), Trainable (IQs of 30-50) and Severe/profound (SPR) (IQs 30-35 and below).

The primary goal in working with mentally retarded children is the same as with all children, to help each achieve his/her maximum potential.

Multi-handicapped — typically students who have more than one inhibiting condition. A difficulty with multi-handicapped children is in determination of a primary condition. A child may be deaf, blind and mentally retarded. Generally, the children are retarded and physically handicapped, Ponder said.

Emotionally handicapped (EH) — emotion problems significantly interfering with learning. Usually an emotional problem is determined significant when it is manifested for six months or longer.

Developmental delay — addresses early recognition and intervention of problems. From ages 3-7, children with recognizable problems are given additional help to bring them up to age equivalent levels. There may be delays in two or more areas of motor, cognitive or language development.

Developmental delays are sometimes overcome through early intervention. "The earlier assistance can be given," Ponder remarked, "the greater the chance of improvement."

"I personally think it is criminal for a child not to be identified until, say the eighth grade. It's like my mother used to say, 'Bend the tree while it is small.'

Sherry Ponder

Visually impaired — have lost or are losing vision. "We recently began teaching braille to a student who is losing her eyesight," Ponder said. "Her mother came to us with the request, so that her daughter will be better prepared for the future."

Hearing impaired — hearing problems, from total loss to partial loss.

"We have one student who attends regular classes but is accompanied by a signer," Ponder stated. "This student's needs are being served in a normal classroom environment."

She said Hancock's hearing impaired area is joined in a consortium effort with the Pass Christian School District.

"You have to have a minimum of five students, age appropriate, to justify a class."

"Pass Christian provides two teachers appropriately certified in the area of hearing impaired and trained in sign language. We presently have four students who are being served through their program. An interpreter accompanies one student throughout the day as she attends regular classes."

"By law, we are required to provide assistance in the least restrictive environment possible, depending on needs. Over and over, we must ask, 'What is it that special ed can do for this student that regular ed cannot?'"

Physically handicapped — special needs to address the physical impairment. Here, Ponder reported, there are many physical handicaps which can be adapted to regular education. Many times special education classes are alternated with regular education classes.

"Most times a child with a physical handicap may only need someone to help him with transportation or personal hygiene assistance. These students gain no benefit from a special education environment that regular ed can't provide.

"With most handicaps we integrate students into regular education. Often children imitate other children. They learn appropriate behavior as well as inappropriate behavior from those around them."

"For example, we have learned that a child with hand flapping behaviors can be placed in a class with other behavioral problem children, and before you know it, they are all hand flappers."

"You place that same child among normal children and he assumes the behavior of those around him."

At this time, Mississippi has no eligibility for behavior disorders. Ponder said the state education department is looking into adding this as a separate area.

Ponder, a Bay High graduate, received a bachelor of science and a master's degree in educational administration from the University of Southern Mississippi. She taught special education classes for six years before taking her first administrative position with Pass Christian School District as special education director, where she remained one year. She moved to Pascagoula, where she worked one year as assistant director and two years as director.

Ponder moved back to Hancock County in 1990 and assumed joint directorship of the two school districts.

Ponder said she would like to see more regular classroom intervention on the part of the teachers. She sees a day when regular education will be as individualized as special ed.

"Regular ed is moving toward serving the particular needs of each student. Classes today are graded by the mastering of specific objectives. Each student is allowed to do so in pace with his own ability."

"It is the responsibility of the parents and the teachers to notice when a problem is present. The earlier a particular problem area can be recognized, the better the chances are for control or elimination of that problem."

"Early recognition is an important key."

In Hancock County there are 2,638 students, of which 389 or 15 percent are being served in 24 programs. In the Bay-Waveland School district there are 2,165 students, of which 262 or 12 percent are being served in 17 programs. There are 60 intellectually gifted students identified in the county and 84 identified in the Bay-Waveland district.

The majority of funding for the special education department is through federal grants and programs.

Ponder commented, "Though I enjoyed teaching, administration allows more flexibility. Working with all the programs makes me feel I can make a difference for more students."

Shows lists highway projects for Hancock

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

State Highway Commissioner Ronnie Shows reported to the county board of supervisors Thursday projected highway improvements in Hancock for 1992.

Along with completion of right-of-way purchases for the Highway 603 widening, he named repairs to the I-10 Pearl River overpass and $230,000 in repairs and overlay work to access roads and rest areas to the county welcome center and county hospitality stations.

Shows said he expects bids to be advertised for the Highway 603 widening project some time after July.

"There are 12 parcels of land still being negotiated," Shows stated.

He added the widening of Highway 603 from Highway 90 to Stennis Air Park will take approximately two working seasons, or about two years to complete.

The supervisors asked Shows if the project could be extended to Highway 49, or even to the Texas Flat Road intersection.

"I think it would be a mistake to try to add more at this time," Shows responded.

He said the first project as planned should be completed, and then at a later date, the county could request the completion of the four lanes to Highway 49.

While at the meeting, county engineer Larry Seal questioned Shows as to whose job it was to maintain the frontage road wooden bridge which crosses Bayou Phillips and runs along side of Highway 90.

"I want to know if we can fix it or close down," Seal stated. "The bridge is in deplorable condition."

Also, Shows reported that a Bayou LaCroix boat launch, on the west side of Highway 603 was privately owned and therefore not the state's responsibility to relocate or maintain.

Stamp collecting is an interesting hobby for children and young people as well as for adults. There will be members of the Hattiesburg Philatelic society present who will be glad to talk with anyone who may be interested in starting a collection and to help them get started.

This service is especially intended for elderly, handicapped and low-income individuals who may not have access to an attorney or who may not know whether the problem requires the assistance of one. However, everyone with a question about the law is encouraged to call.

contended that several of the resolution's sections were not specific enough in their wording. Thriffley said several times that the resolution needed "some teeth to it."

Meanwhile, attorney John Scaife and Mayor Edward Favre maintained that the resolution was not supposed to be too specific but was to serve as a general framework for the City to use in setting regulations.

The resolution was drafted at the request of Favre by Scaife and gaming attorney Donald Rafferty, and was recommended on a split vote with some reservations and suggestions for revision by the Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission.

A public hearing will give residents an opportunity to comment on the resolution Monday, 7 p.m., at the Bay High School auditorium.

Favre said the resolution as written, with all the current sections intact, will be the subject of the meeting.

Admission is free and chamber members and the public are invited.

While on the subject of taxes, the chamber is also working with the Small Business Administration to set up workshops on 'Thinking About Going Into Business.'

To receive particulars, call the chamber at 467-9048.

The issue is 'choice'

The issue is "choice."

At least, it was a few days ago when several hundred Mississippians gathered in Jackson to talk about "choice" in education.

While "choice" comes in varying shapes and sizes and scopes, it means, essentially, greater participation by parents in the education of their children.

Some 25 states have enacted "choice" in some form, or are considering "choice."

The Mississippians who gathered a few days ago in a Mississippi Economic Council-sponsored forum on "choice" heard well-qualified speakers from both national and state levels.

The forum was held to provide information for Mississippians as the issue of "choice" comes into clearer focus in this state.

"Choice" in education is a serious matter, and the first step in the decision-making process must be the development of information on which a sound and reasoned decision can be based.

The forum on "choice" was a good start as Mississippi begins to focus on the issue.

Governor calls for better appropriations process

An address by the Governor and another large stack of bills and resolutions marked the start of the fourth week of the 1992 Legislative Session.

Governor Fordice in the State of the State address last Monday, Jan. 27, presented the new administration's goals for Mississippi. The speech received mixed reactions. Many legislators, including me, were encouraged by the Governor's call for a better appropriations process. At the same time, many of us were hoping for specific legislative recommendations. Because this administration is still so new, it probably still needs more time to work on concrete proposals.

The Senate started tackling the State's financial problems last Tuesday with Senate Bill 2357. That measure provides for Mississippi's bond and interest payments.

Considerable debate ensued after an amendment was offered to change the effective date of the bill. The amendment would have allowed Senate Bill 2357 to go into effect only after the shortfall in education funding was approved. I strongly favored the amendment to convey the message to Mississippians that the Legislature has a commitment to Education in

Budget problems face House

Money problems continue to claim high priority in the Mississippi Legislature with lawmakers searching for ways to deal with existing budget problems and avoid future fiscal pitfalls.

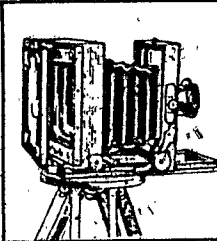

The House of Representatives took a significant step during the past week toward placing a new statutory limitation on the total amount of money appropriated by the Legislature in years ahead. The measure, which still faces Senate action, was viewed as an effort to provide better management of taxpayers' dollars and, in the future, avoid spending all 100 percent of anticipated revenue within a fiscal year.

Other highlights of the past week included an address by Governor Kirk Fordice to a joint legislative assembly, and passage of a House bill aimed at tightening present laws for handling drunk driving cases. A number of other bills were approved by committees and sent to the House calendar for floor action as the 1992 session enters its second month. Meanwhile, committees continued a series of fact-finding meetings with agency heads, education officials, and other individuals to seek current, detailed information on the thorny problems facing the state.

Under the budget-related bill, the Legislature would be required by law to limit general fund appropriations to not more

To the Editor:

While we are so concerned with an ordinance about boys on skate boards, to create an ordinance, what about the potential danger to young (and old) who risk harm from animals left

I recently had two of them jump at me in a parking lot. Where is Bay St. Louis's sense of values?

Roosa runs for 5th District seat

Christopher Roosa

Republican Christopher A. Roosa of Gulfport recently announced his candidacy for Representative, 5th Congressional District.

As a captain in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, Roosa is assigned as the Operations Officer to Third Force Reconnaissance Company located in Mobile, Ala. With a mission assignment of operating 30 to 300 miles behind enemy lines, the unit works in small four-to-six-man teams to gather intelligence on enemy activity.

His unit was called up for Operation Desert Storm. The unit arrived in Saudi Arabia on Christmas Day and played an active role in the war. Members of the Force Reconnaissance Group participated in observing enemy activities, calling in airstrikes, working with the Kuwaiti Resistance and liberating the American Embassy in Kuwait City.

After returning from Operation Desert Storm, Roosa served as co-marshal of the Victory Day celebration in Gulfport.

Prior to his activation, he was serving as Republican assistant legislative director on the Committee on Science, Space and Technology. He was involved in drafting legislation, managing bills through subcommittee and full committee mark-ups, assisting with passage of bills on the floor of the House of Representatives, and negotiations with Senate/House conference committees.

In 1988, he served on the Secretary of Defense's Commission on Base Realignment and Closure. This commission was tasked by the president and Congress to review military bases in the United States for closure or realignment. The commission did not recommend any bases in Mississippi for closure and moved 500 Air Force personnel to Keesler in a realignment effort.

That same year, he ran for the U.S. Congress in the Republican primary in a bid for the seat Trent Lott vacated to launch his Senate campaign. From 1984 to 1988, Roosa served as vice president of his family-owned business, Gulf Coast Coors Inc.

He was commissioned a 2nd lieutenant in 1981 as served as an infantry officer on active duty until 1984. He made deployments to Central America, Philippines, Korea, Okinawa and Japan.

He has completed the Army Airborne course, the Navy Scuba School and the Naval Justice School.

For his military service, he has been awarded the Navy Commendation Medal, the Joint Service Achievement Medal, the Navy Achievement Medal, Marine Corps Reserve Medal, National Defense Medal, Southwest Asia Service Medal (two awards) and Overseas Deployment Ribbon (three awards).

His hobbies include hunting and fishing.

Roosa said, "My experiences working in our family business, working for the Committee on Science, Space and Technology, working for the Secretary of Defense on the Commission on Base Closures and Realignment, and being a Desert Storm veteran, have taught me the qualities that will allow me to serve the people of South Mis-issippi in the best possible manner.

"The message we need to send to Washington is concern for the taxpayer, concern for more economic growth in South Mississippi, and support of our nation in times of military action."

"I will work to bring more nontechnical and high tech, nonpolluting industries to South Mississippi. I will work to ensure our military bases stay competitive. I will work for reduced spending, ensure more efficient use of the tax dollar, and protect the taxpayers' interest."

than 98 percent of projected revenues. In other words, two percent of the state's estimated income for the year would not be allocated as part of the regular general fund budget.

Instead, the money would be held back to start building a cash reserve and used solely, when it becomes necessary, for making deficit or additional appropriations to meet unforeseen needs. The ceiling also would apply to budget recommendations prepared by the Legislative Budget Committee as well as the Governor's office.

The proposed limitation would amount to approximately $40 million a year under the state's $2 billion annual budget.

The idea of placing a cap on appropriations originated in the House, but won a strong endorsement by the Governor in his State of the State address. Recommended by the House Appropriations Committee, the legislation was approved by the full House with minimal debate.

The limitation would not go into effect until the fiscal year starting July 1, 1993, and have no impact on this year's budget or appropriations for the fiscal year beginning in July 1992. Virtually all projected revenue for this year has been budgeted already to meet the state's needs, leaving nothing in reserve in case of a revenue shortfall.

Legislators have been awaiting a report from tax officials on January collections but the preliminary outlook was not encouraging. Through December, revenues were running about $3.3 million below the budget estimate.

There were predictions last week the state may wind up around $30 million short for the 12-month period ending June 30. If so, it could mean additional budget cuts for some agencies and programs unless other ways are found to cope with the problem.

The House gave swift approval to a bill aimed at helping discourage drunk driving cases in the state. The measure would prohibit the judge or prosecuting attorney handling the case from reducing a DUI charge for any person whose blood is shown to contain .10 percent or more of alcohol. It also would prohibit the court or prosecutor from throwing out the charge without a trial.

The bill seeks to replace an old law inadvertently omitted from a measure passed in 1991 involving Mississippi rules of civil procedure. It now goes to the Senate.

this state. We must make educational funding a real priority. Just talking about it doesn't help.

Unfortunately, the amendment failed 22 to 28, so we still haven't restored funding to education.

Committee action occupied most of the Senate's attention the remainder of last week. Most legislators echoed Governor Fordice's priorities in addressing legislation presented for consideration: Is it good for Mississippi; how much does it cost; and what is the money source to fund the idea?

If you have any comments about the legislation we considered, please feel free to contact me at the Capitol at P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, Mississippi 39215-1018. The telephone number is 359-3267. I can be reached at home on weekends at 467-2399.

SSC takes first district title

Special to the Echo
By Dale DeCamp
and Roberto Jimenez

Thursday night in the Rock-A-Chaw Stadium fans saw a long-awaited dream come true. The Rocks' varsity soccer team was victorious in capturing their first-ever district title since the team's establishment in 1985.

The district championship was claimed by the Rocks defeating the St. John Eagles by a score of 2-0.

The Rocks ended the regular season with a district record of 8-2 and an overall record of 15-5-3.

The Rock-A-Chaw season was highlighted with wins over powerful opponents such as Bay High, Long Beach, Gulfport, Harrison Central and St. John. The Rocks added to their accomplishments by winning the second annual Catholic Invitational Tournament.

Thursday night action saw complete dominance by the powerful Rock-A-Chaw defense. Leading the defensive effort were junior sweeper Scott Emmell, senior fullback James

The outstanding defense was commanded by junior goalkeeper Brian Gagnon. Gagnon recorded his sixth shutout in district play.

The offensive effort was anchored by senior Jonathan Compretta with an unassisted goal in the first half and by junior Beau Schindler who secured the championship with a head goal in the second half. Other key offensive players in the match were senior forward Darrin Rose, senior halfback Michael Hargett, sophomore forwards Paul Aragon and Drew Scaffide, sophomore halfback Alejandro Alvarez, and freshman forward Brooks Quinlan.

The junior varsity ended their season Thursday night by crushing the St. John Eagles with a score of 10-0.

The Rocks dominated the game with a powerful offense led by Charles Oliver and Scott Marechal, each with two goals. Shawn Morel, Eduardo Jimenez, Scott Peperman, Bobby Williams, Clint Edrington and Chad Patton scored one goal each. The JV soccer team ended the season with a winning record of 7-1.

First-year head coach Tim Burns said, "The team has jelled together as a group. I keep telling them the only way to succeed is if we work as a team, and that's what they are doing."

Rocks fall to D'Iberville

The St. Stanislaus varsity basketball team lost to D'Iberville Tuesday night, 83-44.

"D'Iberville came out ready to play from the opening tip," said coach Jay Ladner, "and we weren't."

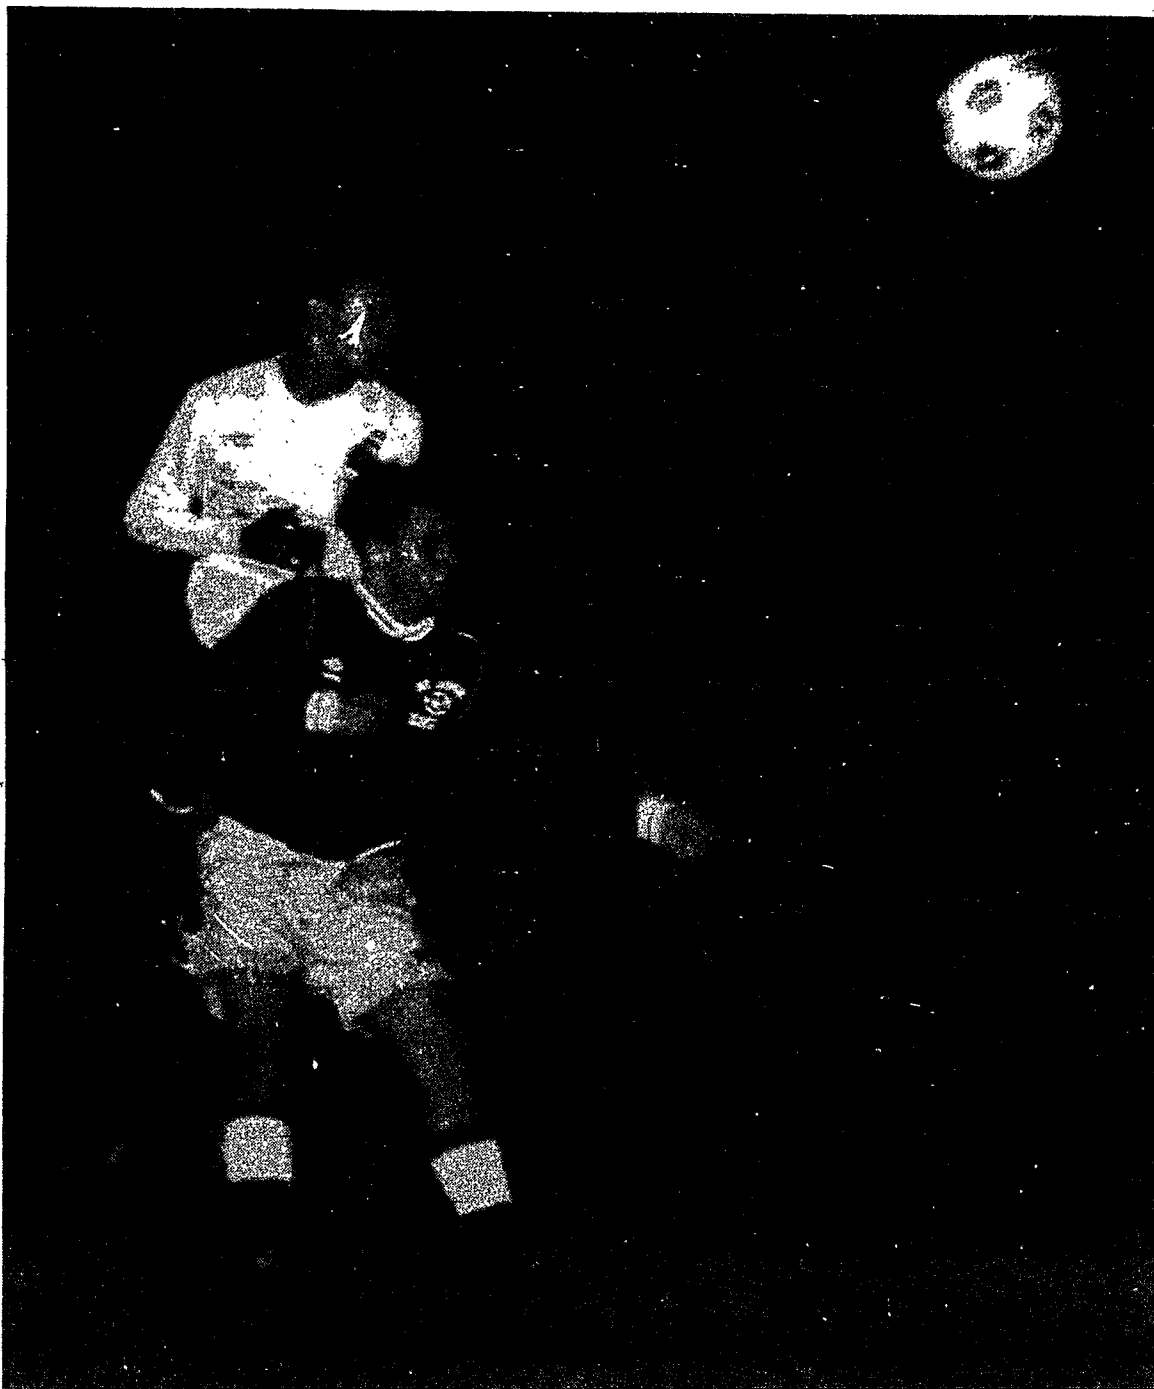

"Defensively, we threw everything in our arsenal at them, but couldn't slow them down. This was simply a good old-fashioned tail whipping," said Ladner.

Senior Mike Lee was high scorer for the Rocks with 13 points.

Ryan Harrell led the team with 10 rebounds, while Grady Thigpen had 8.

Thigpen and Steve Schruff each had 4 assists.

Harrell had 6 steals, while Thigpen and Schruff each claimed 4.

It's a win!

SSC ninth graders end season on winning note

The St. Stanislaus ninth grade basketball team closed the season with a win Thursday night, beating Pass Christian 43-37 in conference championship play at Hancock High School.

Vince Moran was high scorer for the Rocks with 20 points. Kyle Wittman added 7 points.

"Vince and Brandon Benoit had an outstanding game rebounding the basketball," said coach Jeff Barbera. "Nathan Middleton and Johnny Schell played great defense, holding Pass Christian's leading scorer Willie James to only 10 points."

"This was a great way to end an already wonderful season," said Barbera. "Our main goal was to win the conference championship, and I think it says a lot about our kids that we were able to stay focused and win the game."

"The game started out really slow, with the score at halftime 17-11. Luckily, Vince came alive in the third quarter, scoring 13 of our 17 points."

"Pass Christian pulled within two points late in the game." The Rock-A-Chaws were 15 for 19 from the free throw line, while Pass Christian was 6 for 19.

On Wednesday night, the ninth graders defeated the Bay High Tigers, 52-35 in conference tournament play.

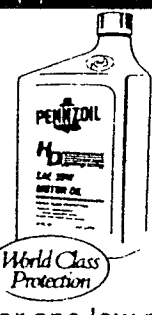

Vince Moran paced the Rocks with 18 points, followed by Brandon Benoit with 12; Johnny Schell, 8; and Kyle Wittmann, 8.

Moran and Wittman had an outstanding game rebounding, said Barbera.

"We started out slow," said the coach, "and were only up by 6 points at the half. We played with much more desire and intensity in the second half, outscoring the Tigers 28-17."

The Rocks ended the season with a 13-5 record.

Diamondhead Garden Club

The Diamondhead Garden Club held its regular meeting Jan. 15 at the Diamondhead Community Center. New members Marge Degan, Mary King, Muriel McCoy and Rose Ribiski were introduced.

The president announced the Garden of the Month Award for December went to Dr. and Mrs. Richard Zepernick of 6634 Golf Club Drive, and the Golf Garden Award for December went to Mr. and Mrs. Murray Palmer at 558 Kaiki Drive.

Flower Show chairman Johnnie Boatright announced the theme for the March 24 show will be "From Sea to Shining Sea." Printed schedules will be available at the February meeting.

Annette Saucier gave details of a club field trip to be held March 26. Members will ride along the Azalea Trail in Mobile, have lunch, and then visit the beautiful Bellingrath Gardens.

Flower Show workshop chairman Alice Brameyer created three lovely dried arrangements celebrating Mardi Gras and Valentine's Day. She used commonly found plant material that she had spray painted according to the theme colors. She proved that you do not need to use expensive florist flowers to create a beautiful and unusual centerpiece. The three arrangements were given to randomly selected members as prizes.

The program for the meeting was given by Connie Rockco, director of Harrison County Beautification Commission. She gave insights into the origin of the litter we see on the roadside. It is not all thrown out of car windows. She said litter moves seven times on average before it comes to rest up against that fence or row of shrubbery where we see it. She gave tips on how to control litter at its source rather than cleaning it up afterwards.

Highlands, Islands elects Neville Jacob president

The Highlands and Islands Association of Celtic Gatherings has set Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 2, 3 and 4 as date for its annual Highland Games and Celtic Festival in 1992.

In making the announcement, Neville R. (Jake) Jacob, president, said this would set activities apart from the games at Jackson and Pensacola better than in the immediate past.

In addition to Jacob (Clan Gunn), Bay St. Louis, other officers elected for 1992 are Larry Burnett, vice-president (Burnett) Long Beach; Dean Hall, games chief (Keith), Gulfport; Burr Loomis, recording secretary (Buchanan), Long Beach; Doris Mahalak, corresponding secretary (Mathison), Gulfport; Mary Jones, treasurer (Ferguson) Slidell, La.; and directors John Scott (Scott), Gulfport; Mary Towles (Bruce), Orange Grove; Robbie Robertson (Stewart), Ocean Springs; with Robert Reed (Stewart), Biloxi, carrying over as immediate past president.

"We are working on a few ideas left over from last year, and expect this year's games to offer even greater appeal to our Coastal area than before," games chief Hall said.

He added, "With attendance growing annually, the first 1992 'games program' meeting was underway before Christmas and the 'street plan' revisions are forging ahead."

"This year's going to be a dandy," according to Ronnie Courchen (McLeod of Harris), chief, props and equipment maintenance.

Courchen said, "We have torn the castle backdrop apart and are already rebuilding it from scratch. The food vendor area is going to remain the same, but Donnell McAlpin (chief, grounds management) told me the children's entertainment is moving further down along the Bay.

The games site in Hiller Park on Back Bay, Biloxi, is interlaced with pathways and trees and open to the cool breezes directly off the water.

"It's probably one of the finest locations for Highland Games in the country, but we are still learning how to utilize it to the best advantage," the new president explained.

"We are expanding the 'kids' activities center, maybe relocating the athletic events to where more people can see everything going on at any one time, and changing the order of entertainment.

"We are considering opening the field to the public a little later, keeping the entertainment running longer, letting the food and other vendors stay open as long as they wish, and putting up a larger tent in front of the platform for the ceilidh. We have a wonderful crowd, a great bunch of folks from many clans, and an enthusiastic public response.

McRaney attends seminar

McRaney is a junior at Coast Episcopal. She is a member of Mu Alpha Theta, the National Honor Society and is on the varsity tennis team.

This year she is serving as secretary of her class, president of the German Club, and co-editor of the yearbook.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDaux, SVD

God is taboo

"In God We Trust" appears on all U.S. paper currency by mandate of the 1955 Congress. The following year, Congress designated it as our national motto. To all appearances, the "Powers That Be" want God to be no less than a household name.

This merely reinforced what the legislators had started in 1954 when they proclaimed an annual National Day of Prayer and inserted "under God" into the Pledge of Allegiance.

Again, this was a takeoff from the crusade of Sarah J. B. Hale which led to a proclamation by President Lincoln in 1863, fixing the last Thursday of November "as a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father."

There would, then, seem to be no doubt that the U.S. Congress wants God to be a household name and part and parcel of everything which transpires in the home, church or school.

Or do they? Surely, if they wanted God to be that household name, they would want prayer to God to be an integral part of all home, church and school activities. Yet, there has been little championing of prayer in school.

Perhaps intimidated by militants like the atheistic terror of the 1970s, Madalyn O'Hair, the sages in Washington have treated God like a disease. Separation of church and state has been their rationale for shunting God aside routinely.

Their dichotomy of attitude would seem to imply that this separation did not exist when the above-mentioned edicts went into force. Can they conclude reasonably that all these signs of faith are essentially different from praying in school?

Does separation of church and state mean that a president or Congress can mandate religious practices to the whole country, yet not allow schools something which is much less than a mandate? Not even as a generic exercise to be observed in or by a moment of silence?

Somehow, something has been lost in the translation here. Congress and the Supreme Court have shown their face to the country and their backside to the schools which shape it.

Or do we simply have a laissez-faire situation here where the honorable women and men of Congress join the U.S. Supreme Court in following the opinion of Supreme Court Justice William Brennan who wrote in 1983 that slogans such as "In God We Trust" have "lost any true religious significance?"

That cannot be. A National Day of Prayer, Thanksgiving Day and a national motto which is also engraved on our money all scream loud and clearly that God cannot be separated from the everyday life of people in the United States of America.

Notwithstanding, God is out, condoms are in. Just as furiously as many of our leaders are fighting to keep God out of circulation, so are some school misleaders struggling to get condoms into broader circulation.

"Safe sex" has become the clarion response to the threat of the AIDS virus. Students are not encouraged to pray, but they are urged to run for safety in their condoms, although it is well known that said devices have a 20 percent failure rate.

Ladies and gentlemen of supposedly considerable intelligence, sober judgment and high ideals are doing their best to appear God-free in their pursuit of a better government, a better country, a better world.

Yet, they open congressional sessions with a prayer.

Couple starts church

BY TRACI BONNEY

A local couple has brought joy to Waveland: Joy Fellowship.

Rev. Harris and Sherryl LaPointe began meeting with several other people at Jamey's on Coleman Avenue November 10. They held weekly services experience in running a grocery store, he also knows the business side of administering a church.

Sherryl attended Fort Wayne Bible College in Indiana. She taught for 20 years and has worked with her husband as a

Harris and Sherryl LaPointe

there until around Christmas, then moved to their current location at Hwy. 90 and Old Spanish Trail.

"We want to minister not only to the whole man, but to the whole family. I believe we have a practical approach to God: he's your friend; it's not impossible to please God," Harris said.

He has ministered several years, starting with Youth for Christ. He attended Trinity Bible College, has pastored and evangelized. With 15 years of children's evangelist for eight years. Their daughter Lynette plays keyboards during the church services.

The non-denominational church has about 70 members, according to its founders. Sunday services start at 10:30 a.m., but Sherryl said the coffee pot is on at 10.

The church holds Wednesday night home fellowship meetings for the adults, Pioneer Club meetings at the church for the children, monthly women's and men's fellowships, children's and youth activities.

BIBLE STORIES SHOW THAT HUMAN NATURE WILL NEVER CHANGE

If you have ever spent much time reading the Bible, you know that it contains many fascinating stories that illustrate both the strength and the weakness of human nature. Those parables and other incidents have provided the basis for many a sermon, which you have undoubtedly heard at your House of Worship if you have been attending it regularly, and they can often furnish the answer to some problem or situation you may be facing today, just by the application of a few timeless principles. However, whether you're concerned with financial matters, human relationships or whatever, the message here is that throughout our history and despite our ever-changing lifestyles, human nature has remained the same since those ancient days which were recorded in the Bible, and that your House of Worship is the best place to learn this.

Human nature will not change. We shall have weak and strong,
silly and wise,
bad and good.

Oranges: A cure for midwinter 'blahs'

When the midwinter "blahs" hit my kitchen, I like to add sunshiny touches to the place, from a bowl of bright oranges and lemons and grapefruit on the kitchen counter, to using the fruit to brighten up all sorts of meals and desserts. And, I must say that our area supermarkets are cooperating with my needs, with good prices on citrus fruits, from those huge navel oranges to other varieties, along with mandarins and lemons and red and white grapefruit. Other bright-colored items, the avocados and yellow squash and the green zucchini, add color and flavor to the culinary scene, as well.

These bright fruits and vegetables stand on their own, and also combine well with other foods. Have you cooked your pork roast or chops (Boston butt roasts and quarter-loin pork chops are good buys at the markets these days) with orange and lemon slices instead of pineapple or apple slices? Try it for a change.

Chicken (breast quarters and leg quarters are special buys; and whole chickens or selected parts are also available) are especially tasty when teamed with citrus fruits, as is ham.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

At one time in our country, as well as in Europe, the eggplant was shunned, along with the tomato, as a member of the nightshade family, distant relative of the poisonous belladonna, the "deadly nightshade."

But, thanks to some adventurous souls who dared to cook and eat the eggplant, and survived to tell about it, our ancestors were at last convinced that the eggplant was harmless, along with the tomato, and was also quite tasty!

(In case you're wondering why the name "eggplant"—always curious about such things—long ago in some countries, the only eggplants available were small egg-shaped pale vegetables, instead of the royal-purple-robed eggplants generally seen today.)

I like eggplant in so many forms—sliced into sticks or disks, and fried. Or, simmered down with onions and bell (green) peppers and celery into a version of ratatouille. Its almost "meaty" taste and its texture make it an excellent substitute for meat in many dishes, although I don't think of it as a substitute, it is so tasty in its own right.

One of the ways in which I cook eggplant is this:

EGGPLANT CASSEROLE
1 large eggplant, peeled and sliced an inch (or a bit more) thick

3 Tbsp. butter

3 Tbsp. olive oil

1 large onion, chopped

1 clove garlic, minced

2 cups tomatoes, peeled and chopped

3/4 cup bread crumbs
1 cup grated Mozzarella cheese

1/4 cup chopped parsley
Pepper, salt and hot pepper sauce to your taste

Pinches of thyme and basil to your taste

If necessary trim the eggplant slices a bit so that they are approximately all the same size, reserve the trimmings and chop or dice, to be added to the dish. Place the slices in a very lightly oiled, shallow baking dish, and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Broil for just a few brief minutes, until lightly browned on one side.

Meanwhile, heat the oil and butter in a pan, and add the onion and garlic. Saute for several minutes, just until the onions are soft. Next, add the tomatoes and chopped trimmings from the eggplant. Simmer for 12 to 15 minutes or so, until thick consistency. Add remaining seasonings, along with the breadcrumbs.

Turn the eggplant slices in the baking dish over, and spoon the seasoned tomato mixture atop. Sprinkle liberally with the cheese, and bake in a preheated oven for 20 to 30 minutes, or until eggplant is tender. (4 to 6 servings).

(Copyright, 1992, Katharine D. M. Caire)

You might like to try pork chops in this spicy, refreshing sauce:

BRAISED PORK CHOPS WITH ORANGE AND MUSTARD

6 (1-inch thick) pork chops

Pepper, salt to taste

2 Tbsp. oil

1/2 cup fresh orange juice

2 Tbsp. (reduced sodium) soy sauce

1 Tbsp. Dijon mustard

3 tsp. honey

2 teaspoons fresh-minced ginger (or dash of dried to your taste)

2 cloves garlic, crushed

Sprinkle the chops with salt and pepper and brown in a large skillet over medium-high heat for 5 minutes per side. Combine the fresh orange juice, soy sauce, mustard, honey, ginger and garlic, and pour evenly over the chops.

Cover, and simmer over low heat for 30 minutes, or until the chops are fork-tender and cooked through. Place meat on a platter and drizzle sauce over the chops. Garnish with orange slices and watercress or parsley. (4 to 6 servings) from "Winners," published by the Junior League of Indianapolis, Ind.

(At times I simply top pork chops with lemon and orange slices as well as onion slices and pour vegetable (V-8) juice over, season and simmer until chops are done. Quick and tasty.)

Also quick and tasty, and budget-wise, with rice specially-priced, is

ORANGE RICE FOR CHICKEN OR HAM OR PORK

3 Tbsp. butter or margarine

2/3 cup diced onion with leaves

2 Tbsp. chopped dill

1 1/2 cups water

1 cup fresh orange juice

Grated rind of 1 orange (medium orange)

1/4 tsp. thyme

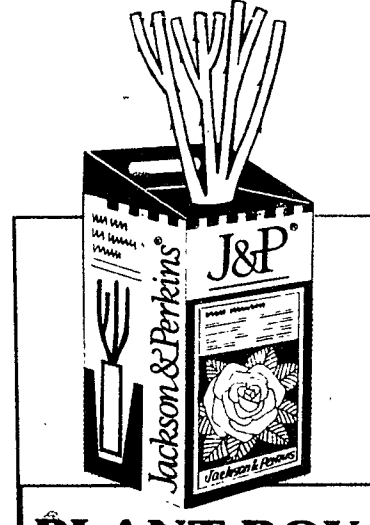

1 cup uncooked long grain rice

Pepper, salt to taste

Melt the butter in a heavy saucepan. Add celery and onion, and cook until the onion is golden and soft. Add the water, orange juice, orange rind, salt and thyme. Bring to a boil, then add the rice slowly, stirring constantly.

Cover, reduce the heat and simmer for 20 to 30 minutes or until rice is tender. (4 to 6 servings.)

There are good beef buys as well—boneless chuck roast and boneless shoulder steak for example. Give the meal that sunshine touch with a salad of sliced navel oranges, sliced red onions and avocado, with a tangy French dressing.

Frank Wittman honored

The National Catholic Educational Association (NCEA) announced Frank P. Wittmann III of Pass Christian is a recipient of the 1992 NCEA Catholic Elementary School Distinguished Graduate Award.

This is the second year that the award has been given. It was established by the executive committee of the Department of Elementary Schools of NCEA to acknowledge the achievements of Catholic elementary school graduates.

Wittmann was named a Distinguished Graduate of St. Joseph Elementary School, now St. Paul Catholic School, in Pass Christian.

He was honored for his work in promoting Catholic education through his involvement in St. Paul Catholic School as dedicated graduate and advocate.

He has served as St. Paul School Board president for the past five years, member of the board for almost 20 years, chairman of St. Paul Seafood Festival, member of the St. Paul Carnival Association, parade marshal for the carnival parade, and various other school and parish projects such as Christmas in the Pass activities.

Wittmann was graduated

Frank Wittmann receives award from St. Joseph (now St. Paul) in 1947. He is a 1953 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School.

He earned a degree in electrical engineering from Mississippi State University and attended Loyola University Law School in New Orleans, where he obtained a juris doctorate.

Though a dedicated family man, Frank Wittmann still finds time to be active in St. Paul Catholic Church. He has worked as an engineer, but is now practicing law with Wittmann and Rafferty.

Some of Wittmann's other accomplishments include serving as city judge for Pass Christian, member of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, master in Chancery Court, president of St. Stanislaus Sideline Club for two years, city attorney and city prosecutor. In 1982 Wittmann was voted Pass Christian's Outstanding Citizen.
